2016 HALLBERG RANCH PINOT NOIR

Forbes

Outstanding

“Emeritus Vineyards - Russian River Valley Pinot Noirs of Great Esteem”

“The real advantage of the Hallberg Ranch is the fact that the vineyard is dry farmed, resulting in roots of the vines going deep to find nutrition. Production is limited, and on the prized Goldridge soils, this ultimately means Pinot Noirs of greater complexities and superb structure for cellaring.”

2016 Hallberg Ranch Pinot Noir

Aromas of ripe bing cherry, turmeric, vanilla and cherry jam. Medium-full with very good to excellent concentration. Wood notes are well integrated. Excellent persistence, good acidity. 7-10 years.”

The Tasting Panel

94 Points

“Fruit from 40 individual lots within this famed vineyard—which is planted to 11 different clones—went into this delectable wine. Juicy and vibrant with a streamlined texture. Aromas of cinnamon toast and Bing cherry lead to flavors of spicy cherry and mocha before strawberry leans in with toasted almond.”

2016 Emeritus Hallberg Ranch Pinot Noir

Hallberg, an estate vineyard, produced this perfumed, medium-full-bodied wine showing bright black cherry fruit, savory spice, smooth tannins, and palate- cleansing acidity.”

The Press Democrat

★★★★: Highly recommended

“An impressive pinot with bright red fruit — cherry and cranberry — racing through it. Buoyed by crisp acidity. Lingering finish. Smart.”

93 Points: Outstanding

“Very attractive aromas of ripe dark cherries here with a swath of blueberries and violets too. The palate has a supple, smooth and glossy feel with a sleep array of fine tannins, folding out long and smooth at the finish. Solid pinot here. Drink or hold.”

-Nick Stock, December 2019

93 Points

“Big, rich and beautiful, this latest from Emeritus Vineyards showcases the impressive depth and complexity of pinot from one of the Russian River’s better vineyards. With an earthy undertone and complex aromas of raspberry and black cherry, the Hallberg Ranch is layered and long, with a pleasing finish enhanced by notes of baking spice.”
